

V_XC_S AFFIXES FOR THE ITHKUIL SUCCESSOR LANGUAGE v.0.2 (Aug. 18, 2019)

by John Q.

This document lists the proposed V_XC_S affixes proposed for the new language. There have been numerous changes made since the initial version of this document (entitled Affixes & Associated Roots for the Ithkuil Successor Language) from Aug. 2, 2019. Most of these changes have come about based on the online sub-reddit discussion regarding the first version of the document. Additional changes have been made based on my own review and re-analysis of the first document. The changes are summarized as follows:

- The listing of associated roots (for those affixes with such roots) has been eliminated. Given the disconnect pointed out between the nine-degree structure of affixes and the 3-stem structure of roots, as well as the fact that most affixes are structured as a spectrum/gradient which cannot be captured within the root/stem structure (except perhaps in an arbitrary manner in some cases), I have decided to eliminate any meaningful/productive correspondence between affixes and roots, other than a superficial mnemonic use of shared consonant-form between an affix and the particular root which generally addresses the same general semantic space as the affix.
- The number of gradient types has been increased from five to seven. The two new gradient types address those affixes whose Degrees 1 and 9 specify a “sufficiency” connotation of either “too little X” or “too much X”, where the notion of excessiveness (or its opposite) are deliberately meant to be ambiguous and context-specific (e.g., as to whether it refers to amount, quantity, degree of impact/effect, benefit/detriment, etc.). If greater specificity is needed, one may utilize an appropriate Type-3 affix instead. The first of the two new gradient types signifies an affix with a “zero-to-one” gradient pattern, while the second signifies a “-1 to 0 to +1” gradient pattern.
- The DCS affix was incoherent in its values; it has been entirely restructured. Similarly, the PHY affix contained too many parameters. It has been eliminated and replaced by a Control affix plus two different Proficiency affixes.
- The TFV affix has been eliminated; use the ZZG affix instead.
- The RSK Risk affix has been split into two; the new affix being a DGR Degree of Danger affix. The MDN affix has been split into two affixes, the new one being the STY Style Through Time affix.
- The Deictic affixes DEX and DXX have been restructured and renamed DX1 and DX2. The TPD and TD2 affixes have been renamed TD1 and TD2.
- The SIM, SQT, SQC, STS, CRC, CHC, LVL, VWP, AFM, APR, PRB, EMO, and XPT affixes have had some of their values re-ordered and/or modified. Likewise for the degree pattern of the various spatial-motion-location affixes. The PFE and PFL affixes have been modified and the former renamed IPF.
- The SCT affix has been split into two new affixes and renamed: DTS Duration of Transition and VTS Variability of Transition.
- The SCO affix is renamed DSZ. The WAK, UNQ, CNQ, LET, HG1 and HG2 affixes have had their gradient-type changed. The DPR affix values have been modified. ATP has been relabeled ATI; CSL has been relabeled CSF; PTF and PTC have been relabeled PWF and PWC respectively.
- The CAQ and CAS coordinative affixes have been merged into a reformulated COO affix; additionally, a new ADT additive affix has been created.

- The listing of specific Type-2 affix meanings has been eliminated for the Modality affixes and for the GEN affix. In the few instances where I have retained a specific meaning for an Type-2 affix (e.g., MDF, SYS), the meaning (IMHO) is merely a natural way of interpreting what the Type-2 meaning would be anyway; i.e., rather than being an arbitrarily assigned meaning, I am merely providing the reader with what I interpret as being a convenient way of conceptualizing the natural Type-2 meaning of the affix.

The V_xC_s affix entries are displayed in three different ways:

1. Affixes imported from Ithkuil without modification (other than a reassignment of the affix's phonological value in most cases) are shown in black.
2. Affixes imported from Ithkuil which have been modified to some extent in the new language (in addition to a reassignment of phonological value) are shown in green.
3. Affixes new to this language (i.e., not found in Ithkuil) are shown in blue.

The following Ithkuil V_xC affixes are not found in this new language:

- DEF: Use new DCD and IDF affixes below instead.
- COO: Use one of the following new/revised affixes instead, as appropriate: CAS, CAQ, IOR, PXR, XOR, CTR.
- CTR: Use either the revised CTR, or new IOR, PXR, or XOR affix as appropriate.
- NA1, NA2, NA3, NA4: Use new NEG negation affix instead or the new AFM affix.
- CTN: Use REA, or XPT affixes, or new AFM or IPC affixes.
- MD01 through MD33: Use new modality affixes instead (DSD, CPC, DBV, ATP, OBG, AVS).
- AGC, ROL: Use case-accessor and inverse-accessor affixes/adjuncts instead.
- APT: Use new AP1, AP2, AP3, or AP4 affixes instead.
- TEM: Use new ASQ affix instead, or new AP1, AP2, AP3, or AP4 affixes.
- LCT: Use Degree-5 of new spatial/motion affix form with any spatial position affix derived from a root indicating X/Y/Z position/location.
- ABD: Use case-accessor and inverse-accessor affixes/adjuncts instead.

Note: Those affixes whose three-letter abbreviations are followed by an asterisk (e.g., DNG*) have an associated C_R root.

The Seven Gradient Types

Each of the V_xC_s affixes falls into one of five gradient types, referring to the pattern (or lack thereof) of hierarchical meanings associated with the nine degrees of the affix. Each of the five gradient types has a particular phonological signature associated with the affix's consonant-form as a mnemonic aid in learning the affixes. The gradient types have been color-coded for ease of recognition.

Gradient Type 0 (Zero): No gradient pattern. The nine degrees of the affix do not manifest any particular hierarchical semantic gradient. Affixes of Gradient Type 0 are either a single sibilant (whether a fricative or affricate), a sibilant + stop, or a bi-consonantal form ending in a sibilant, e.g., -s, -č, -sk, -gz, -jd.

Gradient Type A: A bivalent zero-to-one gradient. Degree 1 signifies one extreme of a gradient spectrum/range of meaning (whether minimal or maximal) while Degree 9 signifies the other extreme (whether minimal or maximal). Degrees 2 through 8 cumulatively add (or subtract) an amount of the concept associated with the affix. Gradient Type A affixes are a mono- or bi-consonantal form consisting of or ending in either -m or -n, e.g., -m, -n, -zm, -xn, -mm.

Gradient Type B: A “three-by-three” gradient pattern. Degrees 1 through 3 signify a spectrum or range involving one sub-parameter, Degrees 4 through 6 signify the same spectrum/range under a different sub-parameter, and Degrees 7 through 9 signify the same spectrum/range under a third sub-parameter. Gradient Type B affixes are bi-consonantal forms ending in -h.

Gradient Type C: A “one-by-two” or “oscillating” gradient. Degree 1 represents one extreme of a spectrum/range which increases/decreases to the other extreme of the spectrum/range usually represented by Degree 4, while Degrees 6 through 9 cycle back through the same values but with a different sub-parameter operating orthogonally to Degrees 1 through 4. Degree 5 usually represents a neutral or meta-level value associated with the semantic concept of the affix. Gradient Type C affixes consist of or end either in -ř or -ň.

Gradient Type D1: A bivalent “zero-to-one” spectrum-like gradient (similar to Type A above) where Degrees 1 and 9 convey sufficiency connotations of “too little X” and “too much X”. Gradient Type D affixes consist of or end in -ļ.

Gradient Type D2: A trivalent “-1 to 0 to +1” spectrum-like gradient (similar to Type E below) where Degrees 1 and 9 convey sufficiency connotations of “too little X” and “too much X”, where the operating sufficiency parameter is excessiveness (or the lack thereof). Gradient Type D1 affixes consist of or end in -x.

Gradient Type E: A trivalent “-1 to 0 to +1” gradient. Degrees 1 and 9 represent opposite (or complementary) extremes of a spectrum/range while Degree 5 (sometimes Degree 4 or 6) represents a “mid-point” signifying a standard, normal, commonplace, baseline, neutral, zero, or basic value. This is the most common type of affix. Any consonant-form that does not phonologically conform to the above four types is a Gradient Type E affix.

1	Interior perulative motion/movement in a manner described by the suffix's corresponding root among/within an external/surrounding/underlying (quasi-)static medium. For translative motion suffixes, implies motion along a course described by the suffix's corresponding root where the course is set, determined, or prescribed by an externally surrounding/underlying medium/channel, etc.
2	Interior motion/movement: static or translative movement/motion in a manner described by the suffix's corresponding root while inside another object/entity (where, unlike the perulative degree, the exterior object/entity does not define/prescribe/determine the course of the moving object/entity)
3	Implies entry from an exterior space/medium/context into an interior space/medium/context
4	Implies continued/continuous movement in a manner described by the suffix's corresponding root; for translative motion suffixes, implies continued/continuous motion along a course/direction described by the suffix's corresponding root
5	Implies a single motion in a manner described by the suffix's corresponding root across from one point/side of the contextual space to another; for translative motion suffixes, implies a single motion along a course/direction described by the suffix's corresponding root across a gap/gulf/space from one place to another
6	For translative motion affixes, signifies motivational "on" as in "come on", "go on", "move on" - implies/reinforces need/impetus to begin/keep moving in the manner or direction described by the suffix's corresponding root without stopping. For static positional affixes, operates merely as a locative to specify an entity's X/Y/Z position.
7	Implies exit from an interior space/medium/context out to an exterior space/medium/context
8	exterior motion/movement: static or translative movement/motion in a manner described by the suffix's corresponding root while outside another object/entity (where, unlike the perulative degree, the other object/entity does not define/prescribe/determine the course of the moving object/entity)
9	exterior perulative motion/movement outside of, over, next to, alongside, "above"/"under" an adjacent (quasi-)static surface/medium; for translative motion suffixes, implies motion on a course described by the suffix's corresponding root along, over, parallel to, around, "above"/"under", or tracking/following an adjacent (quasi-)static surface/medium

Like the SPS affix above (Pg. 48), the following suffix can be used in conjunction with the specialized -üa/-üe C_A suffixes to specify structures/networks/systems of increasing complexity/dynamism. For each degree below, use of Type 2 V_XC_S affixes indicates that the superset establishes a new gestalt (i.e., a higher-order pattern/configuration more cognitively simple or salient than the lower order pattern/configuration).

A negative XOR coordinative/connective “neither...nor” exists within the redesigned Negation Affix below.

The following three sentences illustrate the difference between various degrees of the CAS (and by extension the CAQ) affix:

The apple, too, is something red.	be.something.red-STA apple-STA-CAS/ 1 (or -CAS/ 2)
There is something red and also (there’s) an apple.	be.something.red-STA apple-STA-CAS/ 6 (or -CAS/ 8)
There is something red and/which is also an apple.	be.something.red-STA apple-STA-CAS/ 9

Grammatical Affixes

Since the scope of $V_X C_S$ affixes can now be manipulated by ordering of affixes, the use of Type-3 affixes, as well as the distinction between Slot VII versus Slot IX placement, it is no longer necessary to distinguish Ithkuil’s NA1, NA2, NA3, and NA4 affixes. Consequently, the negation affix has been redesigned.

-r	NEG Negation and Negative Coordinatives/Connectives
1	emphatic relative negation contrary to expectation: on the contrary, ... is not/does not X at all!; no X whatsoever (despite any assertion otherwise)!
2	emphatic relative negation: ... is not/does not X at all!; no X whatsoever!

7	absolute negation contrary to expectation: on the contrary, ... is not/does not X; no X whatsoever.

9	emphatic absolute negation contrary to expectation: on the contrary, ... is not/does not X at all!; no X whatsoever (despite any assertion otherwise)!

The DPC Affix

Related to coordinatives and connectives, is the association between dependency clauses and contingency clauses, or “if...then” constructions. I have analyzed the semantics of Ithkuil’s DEPENDENT, PROVISIONAL, and POSTULATIVE cases, as well as the successor language’s proposed IRRESPECTIVE case (“whether or not X”).

These cases all have an underlying semantic commonality expressible by the phrase ‘...if the circumstances regarding X are such to allow/warrant it’ where the final “it” refers to the original contingency noun/phrase whose existence/occurrence is (at least in part) determined by or contingent upon the dependency phrase. It strikes me that in most communicative circumstances, such a generalized “if...” clause should be sufficient in itself to convey the desired notion of dependency.

So rather than force the speaker into semantic nuances differentiating this common dependency phrase into four distinct noun cases, it seems better to allow such nuances to be expressed optionally by a V_xC_s affix applied to a single, more general noun case. I am therefore collapsing Ithkuil’s DEPENDENT, PROVISIONAL, and POSTULATIVE cases and the successor language’s IRRESPECTIVE case into one single DEPENDENT case, which will then utilize the following optional affix to distinguish the semantic relationship between the dependency noun/phrase and the contingency noun/phrase.

-ck	DPC Dependent Circumstances (specifies the nature of the dependency signified by the redesigned DEPENDENT case)
1	The contingency clause will only take place if the dependent noun/clause is true, but will not take place if the dependency noun/clause is false. e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Break the glass only in case of fire. • She’ll come to the party only if Oswaldo the Clown is there.
2	The contingency clause will take place if the dependent noun/clause is true, but will not take place if the truth value of the dependency noun/clause is unknown, e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I’ll break the glass only if I’m certain there’s a fire [i.e., I will not break it if I’m unsure whether there’s a fire or not]. • If Oswaldo the Clown is there, she’ll attend (i.e., if it is unknown whether Oswaldo’s there, she will not attend).

3	The contingency clause will take place if the dependent noun/clause is true, but it is unknown/uncertain if it will take place if the truth value of the dependency noun/clause is unknown, e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I'll break the glass in case there's a fire [i.e., but I don't know whether I'll break it if I'm unsure whether there's a fire or not]. • If Oswaldo the Clown is there, she'll attend (i.e., if it is unknown whether Oswaldo's there, she may not attend).
4	The contingency clause will take place if the dependent noun/clause is true, but it is unknown/uncertain if it will take place if the dependency noun/clause is false, e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I'll break the glass if there's a fire [but I may also break it even if there isn't a fire]. • If Oswaldo the Clown is there, she'll attend (i.e., if he isn't there, it is unknown whether she'll attend or not). [Note the following two "inverse" examples where the dependency clauses are negatives, i.e., 'if it does not rain' and 'if Oswaldo isn't there']: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We'll go for a walk, depending on the rain (i.e., if it doesn't rain we'll walk, but if it does rain, we may still walk or may decide not to walk). • She'll attend if Oswaldo the Clown is not there, but may or may not attend if he is there.
5	The contingency clause will take place regardless of whether the dependent noun/clause is true or false, e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Break the glass whether or not there's fire. • She'll attend the party regardless of whether Oswaldo the Clown is there.
6	The contingency clause will take place if the dependent noun/clause is true, and will not take place if the dependency is false, but it is unknown/uncertain if it will take place if the truth value of the dependency noun/clause is unknown, e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I'll break the glass in case there's a fire [i.e., and will not break it if there's no fire, but I don't know if I'll break it if I'm unsure whether there's a fire or not]. • If Oswaldo the Clown is there, she'll attend (i.e., and will not attend if he's not there, but if it is unknown whether Oswaldo's there, she may not attend).
7	The contingency clause will take place if the dependent noun/clause is true or if it is unknown/uncertain, but will not take place if the dependency is false, e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I'll break the glass in case there's a fire [i.e., I'll break it if there's a fire or if I'm uncertain whether there's a fire, but will not break it if I know there is no fire]. • If Oswaldo the Clown is there, she'll attend (i.e., she'll attend if he's there or if she doesn't know if he's there, but won't attend if she knows he's not there).
8	Likelihood of the contingency clause taking place is unknown/unpredictable because the dependent noun/clause's truth value is unknown/unpredictable, e.g., <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • She may show up depending on her attitude. • Her attending the party depends upon Oswaldo the Clown being there (however, it is unknown whether it is Oswaldo's presence or his absence that determines whether she attends).
9	The contingent clause represents only a precautionary/preparatory measure because the dependent noun/clause's truth value is unknown/unpredictable, e.g., We have umbrellas in case of rain. She's carrying a gun in case Oswaldo the Clown is there.

The following chart more systematically illustrates the distinctions between the nine degrees of the affix:

The contingency		If the Dependency Value is . . .				If the Dependency Value is . . .
		true	unknown	as desired by contingency party		true	false	unknown
1	will occur	x			but will not occur		x
2	will occur	x			but will not occur			x
3	will occur	x			and/but may (not) occur			x
4	will occur	x			and/but may (not) occur		x
5	will occur	x			and will also occur		x
6	will occur	x			but may (not) occur if dependency uncertain, and will not occur		x
7	will occur	x	x		but will not occur		x
8	will occur			x	however, dependency value is unknown to speaker
9	will occur		x		as a precaution

The reader may note that, for the contingency clauses listed, there are no negative values, i.e., “X will NOT occur if...”. This is by design. Such negative contingencies are expressed by simple negation of the contingency phrase, via the previously presented negation affix. Similarly, the dependency clause (expressed in the DEPENDENT case) may also be negated if semantically required.

The best feature of the new DEPENDENT case is that one can normally use it without the DPC affix to say in general ‘I’ll come, depending on what day of the week it is’, or, if necessary, specify the nature of the dependency by using the DPC affix, e.g., ‘I’ll come but only if it’s a certain day of the week’.
